Hon. A. F. Byrd, our efficient county superintendent, who is a candidate for commonwealth's attorney, was in the city shaking hands with his many friends this week. If all the judicial districts will stick to Mr. Byrd like this precinct he will have a glorious victory at the November election.

On last Thursday Samuel Rose, of this place, led to the altar Miss Loula Collins, of Campton. Only a few relatives and special friends were present on the occasion. Next day the bridal party arrived here, the future home of the bride and groom, and the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Allison Rose, set an elegant dinner in honor of the occasion. If the good months to come bring them the fruition of our hopes, they will live to glorify the beauties of their little home, and the sun of prosperity forever shine on Sammy and his bonnie bride.

Gillmore Gleanings.

We are pained to chronicle the sad accident which occurred about seven o'clock yesterday morning, the death of Henry Banks, our neighbor, who was almost instantly killed by a saw log rolling on him, while sawing logs in the woods. His brother, Will Banks, said he remained under the log nearly an hour before he was extricated, and lived about an hour afterwards.

The log was 14 feet in length and 31 inches in diameter. His brother Will and son Leek lifted the log off him up hill, and I doubt if they could do it again to save three lives. Mr. Banks leaves many relatives and friends to mourn his loss. He leaves a witness behind that his future destiny was bright. His brother, who was with him, when asked what their conversation was just before the accident, said they were talking of their future destiny, and Henry remarked that when the Lord called for him he was ready, and immediately the call came. He was a member of the Christian church, and had been for many years. His funeral will be preached today at 10 a. m., by Elder H. H. Little, after which his remains will be laid to rest in the old family burying ground, there to sleep in Jesus till Gabriel's last trump shall sound to wake the nations under ground, then to rise a victorious conqueror over death, hell and the grave, and sit on the right hand of the throne of God.

John Amey, a colored man, from sawmill near Gassio, is on the road to see his mother, who is sick, and to see his father, who is also sick.

It seems the log business is picking up in this vicinity. There is a chance of a big crop of logs, and the loggers are busy.

B. Allen, Wash. Perry, and Wm. Gray, & Sons, all in the log line, are in the neighborhood.

Brook Back, a few days since, was seen in a tree and barely escaped with his life. He was thought for several days that he would not recover, but now there is some hope, as he is able to get about with the use of crutches.

On last Friday evening we were all most gloriously entertained at our school by Messrs. R. M. Caldwell, Chas. B. Morford and E. E. Atkinson and Miss Maggie Kash, who rendered some of the grandest pieces we have ever heard. The children especially enjoyed "How Ruby Played," by Mr. Caldwell. Mr. Morford, an experienced teacher, spoke in glowing terms of the school. The house was crowded and all went away feeling glad to have been there. Among those present were: Messrs. Charles Collins, Charles Barnett and James Graves; Misses Lula Kash, Bilda Horton and Carrie Swango, and Mrs. F. N. Day and little daughter Virginia.

Corn crops are good, but rain is needed.

E. P. Kash and I. N. McGuire have gone to Mt. Sterling with a fine bunch of cattle.

Clay Wade Womack and wife, of West Liberty, were visiting in town Saturday and Sunday.

The sick of Logan Murphy's family, on Greasy, are doing well with one exception—Willie, whose case is thought to be exceedingly critical.

The people have most of their summer work done now and are now giving their attention to road working, which has been so badly needed.

"Next Saturday our boys will go over to Ezel to 'do up' the Ezel boys in a game of baseball. The West Liberty nine is a hummer."—Morgan Messenger. Yes, they came, we presume, with full instructions to "do up" the Ezel boys, and we are reliably informed had prepared a song to "hum" and sing when the would-be victory was won. But to their dismay and disappointment, they did not "do up" the Ezel boys, nor even get to "hum" their sweet song, as the score stood 22 to 15 in favor of Ezel. The game opened promptly at 3 p. m., Saturday, and was interesting from the beginning to the end. There was an immense crowd present. West Liberty was well represented by visitors. Whatever else may be said of the West Liberty boys, they conducted themselves well and played ball like fury, and have the deserving respect due them from the Ezel nine, who never make a song to sing but what will be sung.

Ed Oliver and sisters, Misses Lettie and Mary, of Mt. Sterling, stopped over in town Saturday, en route for your town and West Liberty.

The funeral service of Rev. J. P. Lockhart, of Maple Grove Sunday, was attended by a large audience. 553 persons passed through on Sunday evening.

Our scribe today was in a cornfield of 20 acres on the farm of our model farmer, Wm. Henry, on Grassy. He says he planted before the snow in April, worked it over before his neighbors were done planting. He plowed and hoed through the cold snap, and all said it would make nothing, but the worst acre in the field will make ten barrels of corn.

Dick Phipps, we understand, contemplates moving to Hazel Green in the near future. We regret very much to lose such a good citizen, but our loss will be the city's gain.

Rev. A. D. Roberts, of Booneville, preached an old apostolic sermon at Salem Sunday. Bro. Roberts is a candidate for state senator, and we verily believe he is the man that should have the office.

Why can't every correspondent come to the front every week, as many of them did last week? By so doing we can make THE HERALD the best and newest paper in the mountains. Come one, come all.

CHANDLER'S LETTER.

Explains the Fall of Silver, and the Casual Spurt in the Price of Wheat.

Senator Wm. E. Chandler, of New Hampshire, has written the following letter to the Washington Post in regard to the fall in the price of silver, and the temporary spurt in wheat:

Many of your readers are asking me what effect I think the continued fall in silver will have upon the prospects of bimetalism; of the restoration of silver free coinage by international agreement or otherwise. I reply to them, through your courtesy, that I think the progressive depreciation of silver ought to expedite bimetalism as a means of preventing the full realization of the injuries which mankind must suffer if all the commercial nations of the world are to continue to move toward and are to fully and finally reach and permanently adopt gold monometalism.

One of the most important facts I have learned in connection with the study of this question is that the progress of great economic changes is very slow, and that the effect of the demonetization of silver by the nations, which began in 1873, was only partially felt during the twenty years prior to 1893, in which year the India mints were first closed to silver, and that such effect has been by no means fully realized at the end of the four years since 1893. This slow propagation of the result of economic shocks is clearly depicted by Prof. Francis A. Walker in his work on bimetalism, and is amplified by me in my remarks in the senate on February 18, 1897, a copy of which I will send to any person upon request.

This point is a most important if not a vital one. If the complete results of discarding silver, which lowers prices, and thereby hinders trade, have been already reached, and no future injury from demonetization is to be apprehended, possibly the world may be held to the single gold standard. But if the tendency of the last twenty-four years to a fall in prices caused, as alleged, by stopping the coinage of silver is much longer to prevail, the nations of the world can not be held to gold monometalism. The renewed coinage of silver will be irresistibly decreed by uncontrollable popular movements. The temporary conditions of today or tomorrow will not settle a question so broad and universal as the issue between the new gold monometalism and the old bimetalism.

Under present conditions it is not strange that silver continues to fall in market price. There is no longer any demand for the metal to coin into money; so every year $220,000,000 worth (at the ratio of 15-2 to 1) must find its ways into use in the arts, and, in addition, the price is threatened by $4,000,000,000 worth of silver now constituting the world's coined silver, but which is likely to be precipitated upon the market, as a commodity not needed for money if it is only money because it must be redeemed at all times and places in gold. Paper money will be as good, and even better, than silver, if the latter is not to be as complete money as is gold. If there is to be no retrograde movement toward remonetization, silver will inevitably fall until it commands only its price as a commodity to use in the arts. Where the lowest price will be no man knows and no man can ascertain. But here is no argument against bimetalism. The principal value of both silver and gold is derived from their use by the nations as money, and the principal argument in favor of the remonetization of silver is derived from the continuous fall in the prices of commodities since 1873, greatly accelerated since 1893.

That prices are still falling can hardly be denied. The reference to sporadic rises in the prices of certain articles is not a valid argument. For special reasons particular commodities rise, even when the general average of prices is downward, as wheat, where there is a famine in India or short crops in Europe. The bimetalist argument is based on the general fall in the average of prices extended over a period of years. Mr. Wharton Barker's table, reprinted in the American, of Philadelphia, dated July 17, 1897, gives his index numbers, based upon the price since 1891 of 100 articles in common use. In January, 1891, the quantity was ascertained which could be purchased for $100.

Since 1891 the number of dollars necessary to purchase the same quantity has gone steadily down until it reached, on July 1, 1897, the figure $75.33. There are notable rises during the period of six and a half years, including that of wheat and other food products between October 1, 1896, and January 1, 1897, but the general fall is from 100 to 75.33.

Mr. Sauerbeck's index numbers are made by taking the English prices of forty-five leading commodities (see the London Bimetallist for October, 1895) since 1877, starting with 100, at that date. The figure goes invariably downward until it reaches 62 in January, 1897; the last numbers I have being 61 for April, 1897.

That the various index numbers clearly prove a general fall in prices since 1877 there can be no reasonable doubt, and everyone knows from common observation that real estate and machinery have fallen in the same proportion. The consequences of these conditions are depressing, as any manufacturer will testify, who, in 1877, had $100,000 in property and owed $50,000, but who now finds himself with only $50,000 of property and still owes the $50,000. If, as Mr. Barker claims, the fall in values has been 25 per cent. in the last six years, and is still progressing, the baneful effect upon merchants is understood by all thoughtful persons.

The fall in silver will not lessen the present or prospective woes from monometalism. It only points the moral of demonetization. The gold price of silver falls and so fall the prices of all other commodities. Such a fall in the prices of the necessities of life is beneficial if it comes from natural causes, but is injurious according to all political economists if it results from the cancellation or destruction of the money of the world, which is the measure of values. If this wrong to society has been progressing for twenty years it will be wise for the free citizens of America who can accomplish results by votes to begin inquiry anew (now that the tariff question passes out of sight for a time), whether the work of remedying the wrong ought not soon to begin. This question is not to be answered alone by the money lenders and the persons of fixed incomes. All classes in the community will study it, and will reach and act upon their conclusions. I should be glad if I could think the question had disappeared for the reason that silver has gone down in price everywhere because demonetized, and wheat has gone up everywhere because of a shortage of crops in various countries. But is the question really gone? Let us not be too sure, but make inquiry.

A. D. Roberts, of Owsley County.

In writing to the Morgan Messenger of the merits of A. D. Roberts, candidate for state senator from this (34th) district, H. Fullen, of Booneville, says:

"Being a stranger to you and your paper, 'tis with a feeling of timidity and some hesitancy that we address the following lines, but we feel that we shall be fully justified in making a few remarks in defense of a cause which we, the few Democrats of Owsley, consider a just one, and shall feel truly grateful if you will kindly allow the required space in your valuable paper."

"In the outset we write to state that our remarks shall be directed to the candidacy of Elder A. D. Roberts for the nomination to the office of state senator in this (the 34th) district, and further can assure the readers of the Messenger that our statements are but the sentiments of Owsley's handful of Democrats, hemmed in as we are by hundreds of howling Republicans and the heralds of prosperity in general."

"We are glad to note the generous spirit manifested by the Morgan county candidate, whose name we failed to learn, in declining to make the race against Bro. Roberts, and heartily approve the stand that Morgan is taking for Owsley's choice in this race. For the benefit of those not so fortunate as to be acquainted with him, we submit the following facts:

"A. D. Roberts is the son of Col. A. T. Roberts, of Nicholas county, Ky., and resided in that part of the state until he became of age and cast his first vote for Hon. John C. Breckinridge for president of the United States, and being a southern sympathizer was forced to leave Kentucky, after which he went to Virginia and joined the confederate army, fighting through the war, at the close of which he was in Virginia, returning to this county and cast his next vote for the lamented John M. Elliott, and has always been faithful to the interest of the Democratic party during his past life. Also taking an active part in the election of Senator Hager, and was a delegate from this county to the convention at the time Hon. W. O. Mize was nominated."

"We can assure the people of the district that should he receive the nomination his year choice could be made as regards piety, morality, ability, etc., and as a citizen has never furnished a reason for his choice which is one of those which we are responsible for the statement that we think the boys who have a lifetime before them should look and give no second showing."

Cold Winter Predicted.

Asn Martin, the famous weather prophet, is doing all he can to mitigate the severity of the heated weather by predicting a terrible winter for Kentucky with the mercury 20 degrees below zero.

To a Lexington newspaper man he said: "We are going to have a terrible winter. The weather will not only be severely cold, but the cold will be persistent and continued. We will have twenty-three snows in Kentucky. The first will fall on October 28. There will be three ice spells. The coldest weather will be between the dates of January 6 and 15. The first ice spell will be in December, in which the ice will be from three to five inches thick. In January the ice will be from five to seven inches thick. On the coldest day the thermometer will register 22 degrees below zero. This will be the 14th day of January. Look out for a tartar this time."

HOW TO FIND OUT.

Fill a bottle or common glass with urine and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates a diseased condition of the kidneys. When urine stains linen it is positive evidence of kidney trouble. Too frequent desire to urinate or pain in the back, is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

WHAT TO DO.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in relieving pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passages. It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, or had effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to get up many times during the night to urinate. The mild and extraordinary effect of Swamp Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists, price fifty cents and one dollar. For a sample bottle and pamphlet, both sent free by mail mention THE HAZEL GREEN HERALD and send your full postoffice address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The proprietors of this paper guarantee the genuineness of this offer.

THE HAZEL GREEN FAIR.

Owing to some complications and confusion existing in the Hazel Green Fair and Driving Park Association it was considered best to reorganize. To this end a few of the enterprising citizens of the town and county got together Wednesday and, after drawing up an agreement perfectly satisfactory to all parties, organized a new company by electing Ed. F. Cecil president and W. T. Caskey secretary and treasurer. W. T. Swango, H. F. Pieratt, David Linden, T. E. Johnson and Spencer Cooper were elected directors. Some twenty of the most substantial business men and farmers among us have signed the articles of agreement, and thus insure the fair to be a success in every particular. Harmony with a big "H" is our rallying cry, and everybody connected with the association as well as the citizens generally are doing their utmost to make the fair a grand success, and we feel perfectly safe in saying to the people of Wolfe and the surrounding counties, all Eastern Kentucky and the world at large that, weather permitting, we will, by the grace of God, this year give the biggest and the best exhibition ever held on the Hazel Green fair grounds, and can assure all who attend that they will have four days' enjoyment equal to any to be found anywhere at any time.

The finest band in the state has been engaged to furnish the music, which alone will be worth the price of admission. There will be more and better horses for the speed rings than we have ever had. The floral hall will be full of the finest fruits and vegetables native to our soil, together with the finest display of needle and other handiwork of the fair hands of our own mountain maids and matrons. Jellies, preserves, pickles, cakes, bread, etc., etc., all the make of our own housewives and daughters, will be under the management and immediate control of four of the handsomest ladies in our own fair land.

Indications now are that the attendance will be larger than ever known before in the history of the fair, which has always been good. An ample police force will preserve the best of order, and ladies and children may feel as safe on our fair grounds as they would in their own parlors at home. Every stockholder will use his utmost efforts to make the fair this year not only the best ever held at Hazel Green, but the best, or as good as any, ever held in Kentucky, and those who attend will say that it is so before the exhibition closes.

Tell your friends and your neighbors, everybody, indeed, who comes within the reach of your voice, that the fair at Hazel Green this year will be as nearly a miniature Columbian exhibition as is possible to be had in any country town, and to be sure and come if they do not wish to miss a real good thing. Remember the dates, September 7th, 8th, 9th and 10th, 1897, and be here to take it all in.

Inasmuch as the impression has got abroad that there will be no fair held at this place this year, THE HERALD will esteem it an especial favor if each of our exchanges will make the positive statement that the Hazel Green fair will be held on September 7th, 8th, 9th and 10th, as advertised.

WAVING politics, we feel sorry for Judge Gourley. Socially he is a good fellow, a nice gentleman and an entertaining talker. None of us are perfect, nor have we a right on that account to throw stones at another. But, prone to the sin of seduction and having suffered the torments of the damned in consequence, one knows how hard it is to break away from its surroundings. Being seduced by a corporation into acting as counsel may be a lesser degree of sin than those written on the tablets of stone. And again it may be greater, we can not say.

CORRUPT company will as certainly contaminate as will the small-pox inoculate, and Judge Gourley is no more liable to escape its evil effects than any other of the human family. He can outlive the suspicion entertained of him, but it will take a long time, and our advice is that he first cease to consort with the corporations and live—well, say a quarter of a century in sackcloth and ashes as an evidence of his repentance. If then he has proved sincere, the people will think better of him, and, other things being equal, consider his claims in connection with the circuit court. But not now, judge! Oh, no! You may mean to forsake the evils of corporations, and sincerely desire to do so, but the flesh is weak, and the people knowing it want to see you time tried.

IN OUR local columns this week note the sale of 126 head of cattle at $2,000 cash. Some fool Republican will read that and yell "Prosperity." So it is to the few citizens of Wolfe county who were fortunate enough to have the cattle to sell. But what about the other citizens of Wolfe, unfortunately a majority too overwhelming to contemplate, who have not a hoof to sell? And what about the people in Owen county? Prosperity at one place caused by poverty at another is not prosperity in its true definition or within the opinion of any fair-minded man, be his politics what they may. It's a prosperity that will do those who live by the "dog in the manger" tale, but its advocacy will never prove a passport through the party gates. No right thinking Republican will say so, either. But then comes the question, Can a Republican think right? If he could, may he'd be a Democrat. Logical conclusion, eh?

OUR friend Judge Gourley announced in his Campton speech that he once drove an ox team and hauled coal to bathe his brow in honest sweat. Alas! how have the mighty fallen! Every honest farmer and the yeomanry of the land will hold Judge Gourley in high esteem for having once pursued so honest a calling. But when he steps across the Styx, as it were, and is henceforth classed as corporation counsel, conscience forbids that they commend him. Thus the noble deeds of his young manhood give place to his ignoble ones in his maturer years, and the people are afraid that such a retrograde movement, in event of his elevation to the ermine, would corrupt the circuit court and, of course, the country. Hence it is that they will steer clear of him and his craft. Better for you, judge, that you had continued in the honest but humble calling of ox driver and coal heaver, and never listened to the siren voice of corporations.

READING the speech of Judge Gourley at Campton, recently, reminds us of that old song, "The Rounds of Louisville." "It was early one morning in 1815, I thought myself quite lucky to find myself alive. So I harnessed up my horses my business to pursue. And went to hauling coal as I used for to do. "In place of hauling five loads I did not haul but four. For I got so drunk in Shippingport I couldn't haul no more. The boat house being open and liquor being free. When one glass was emptied another was filled for me."

One can easily see how, in the happy days when he hauled coal, Judge Gourley sang these verses with fervor. Perhaps he then called it the "Rounds of Beattyville," and substituted "Proctor" for "Shippingport." But all the same, we see him with his companions and hear his silvery voice as he merrily joins in the popular refrain. And thus in our mind's eye we see him happy again. But "How now, Horatio?" Alas and alas!

HON. F. M. GRIFFITHS, of Switzerland county, was last week elected to fill the vacancy in the Fourth Indiana congressional district, caused by the death of Hon. Wm. J. Holman, by an overwhelming majority. Mr. Griffiths is a straight Democrat, one of those who never wavered in the free courage of silver, and will uphold in congress the honor of his district made famous by "the watch dog of the treasury."

"Cherries Are Ripe"

with us, and there's nothing to be done but the plucking, for we offer bargains more tempting than the finest cherries you ever saw. We have to offer two bites at these cherries, as one will not answer. They are such great bargains that you'll hardly believe these goods can be bought for so little money, so we offer in 200 men's fine all wool suits in Clay Worsteds, Cheviots and Bannockburns, two and three button cutaways, in blues and blacks, swell tailoring in every garment and lined with superior farmers satin. We have never sold these goods for less than $12, $15 and $18, and not one of them cost us less than $12 wholesale, but you can pluck one for $9.99.

The First Bite

Now Pluck.

Other Bites

are offered in 200 men's Mole-skin Pants, at 45c a pair—elsewhere they'll cost you 75c. 200 men's blue Cottonade pants at 44c. They will cost you 75c at any other store. 200 men's Linen pants at 75c a pair, and you'll have to pay $1.50 for them for them anywhere else in the world. We have them in some beautiful patterns, and they'll wash as well as a shirt and wear like iron. Of course you know what all these goods are without further description, but will add that they're all new goods.

Now Pluck.

Louis & Gus Straus,

THE PIONEER CLOTHIERS,

LEXINGTON, KY.

HON. T. Y. FITZPATRICK, congressman from this district, will please accept our thanks for a copy of the August bulletin of the American Republics. It is furnished by the bureau at $1 per annum.

THE Republican state convention, which met in Louisville last week, nominated Hon. James G. Bailey for clerk of the court of appeals. Mr. Bailey is a native of Magoffin county, and was a member of the legislature which recently went to pieces after accomplishing nothing at a great expense to the state.

THE Republicans of Louisville are having a Kilkenny cat fight among themselves, and Mayor Todd, the Republican incumbent, threatens to put negro police on in the German districts. This has aroused the ire of the Germans and they will largely support Weaver, the Democratic nominee, for mayor.

JUDGE GOURLEY intimated at Campton that he intended to do us up. If it's a fight he's after, we're his persimmon, but we demand that the time shall be in the late fall and fried oysters the weapons. Then, judge, we'll say to the waiter, "Lay on, Macduff, and damned be he who first cries, 'Hold, enough!'" "Oh, I'm wid ye, jedge."

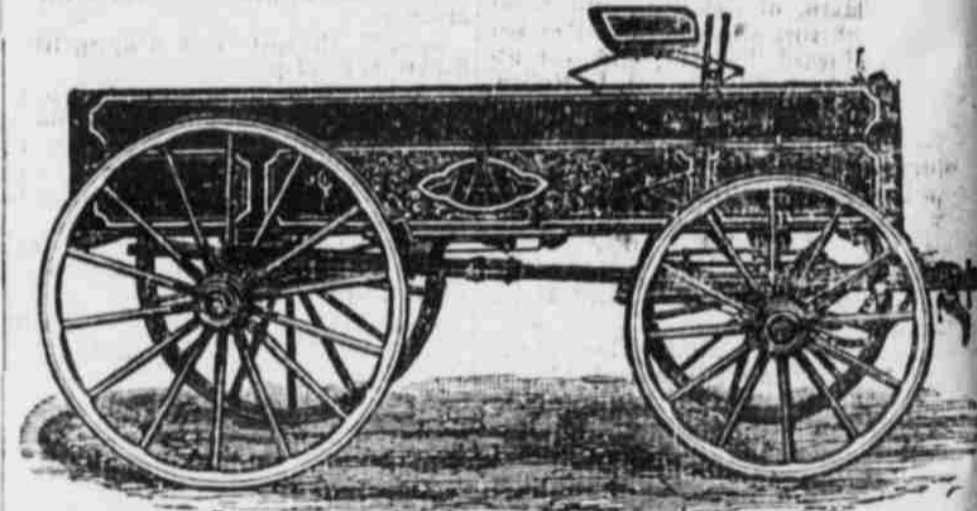

THE initial number of the Campton Banner has reached our office, and we welcome it to our exchange list. W. P. Norris is editor, with J. R. Haddon assistant. It essays independence in politics and eschews politicians, and we hope the proprietors may fill a plethoric purse by its publication. More anon, when we become better acquainted with its aims.

THE assistant editor of the Acorn, published at Marshall, Clark county, Ill., is Miss Ida Gasaway, and the presumption is that when the editor is short on sensation he just says, "Ida Gasaway," and lets it go at that until the hook is full. The Acorn, by the way, is published by John Sewell, who was raised in this section, and is a brother of our fellow-countyman Capt. James Sewell.

WHEN such men as Bill Chandler, rocked in the cradle of Republicanism and reared a Republican politician, who has been a cabinet officer, is now a senator, and has always been a leader among the elite eastern politicians of his faith, says that the rise of wheat and the fall of silver have no connection whatever, his statement should command respect at least. Hence we reproduce it elsewhere.

WE HAVE frequently wondered at the facility and versatility of our young friend Benj. Sewell, but the matter is fully explained since we realize that he, perhaps, inherits it from his uncle John, of the Acorn. And perhaps, who knows, but he has imbibed some of the assistant editor's breathings. May be he thinks her name a slogan of encouragement in his effort to "get there, Eli," and shouts it the end or beginning of each sentence. The Alpine boy, when he felt his courage fail, exclaimed, "Excelsior," and forged ahead. Ben says, "Gasaway," and gets there just the same.

Back Again.

We returned on Friday night from our Kentucky visit, after an absence of two weeks and one day. Our last week's letter closed by stating that we had met with many relatives and old acquaintances and we expected to meet with many more. Among these is cousin John Tolson, who is the Republican nominee for representative in that district. John is a shrewd man, and if elected will make a good representative. We met our old friend S. H. Hurst at his residence at Peartree, Breathitt county. He has an interesting family, is well-to-do in this world's possessions, and made extended inquiries concerning his relatives in Marshall and Clark county, Ill. He is postmaster at Peartree. J. M. Elkins, merchant and postmaster at Lane, Wolfe county, who was a student at Stillwater seminary with us at the outbreak of the rebellion, entertained us very agreeably. He is one of Wolfe county's most useful citizens. Dr. Ira Profit, another cousin of Campton, is said to be the leading physician of the county. He visited us at our brother's, and contributed very much to the pleasantness of our trip. Wm. L. Hurst is the leading and oldest attorney in Campton, as well as a Republican politician. He lives in a palatial residence in that city and took the pains to show us through all the rooms as well as to describe many unique and historical articles in them. He wishes his Clark county relatives to furnish him with their family histories as he is preparing to publish a book containing the genealogy of the Hurst family from their migration from England to the present time. Z. T. Hurst is another Campton lawyer who has an interesting family and who entertained us very pleasantly. J. N. Vaughn is a pleasant merchant in that city. Campton has one of the finest public school buildings in Eastern Kentucky and supports good schools. We had the pleasure of meeting with and addressing the teachers of the county who were holding an institute provided by their county superintendent who is a fine scholar and a pleasant gentleman Wednesday and Thursday nights we stopped with Mr. and Mrs. Millard Horton, and at 4:30 Friday morning accompanied by our brother James, we drove to Torrent where we took the train for home, arriving here Saturday morning at 2:30.—Marshall (Ill.) Acorn.

H. C. Quicksall and Miss Laura Rowlings, J. M. Pieratt and Miss Nettie Wheeler, Ed Coulter and Miss Minnie Day, Ed Taulbee and Miss Rilda Horton, Will Pieratt and Miss Belle Salyer, Courtney McGuire and Miss Lillie Evans composed a delightful little party that attended Johnny Kash's Tuesday night to eat watermelons. They had such a good time that they felt kindly to all mankind, and in consequence presented the editor and his better-half with a watermelon, for which they will individually and collectively please accept our thanks.

The following postal card, addressed to Mrs. Ellen Pieratt, and received at this office Tuesday evening is self explanatory:

COUNCIL BLUFFS, IOWA, Aug 14, 1897.
DEAR MA.—I arrived here this morning and will leave for California in a few minutes. Write to me and send me THE HERALD to Preece Div., San Francisco, California. Write at once.

CURTIS PIERATT.
We hope the next time we hear from Curtis that he will give both the company and the regiment to which he is attached, together with the name of his captain, lieutenant, colonel, etc. It would be more satisfactory to his friends here, all of whom, we can assure him, will be glad to hear that he is doing well and enjoying life on the Pacific Slope.

Rev. Creed Oney, formerly preaching elder of the M. E. church for this circuit but now located at Carlisle as pastor, has been assisting Rev. Mr. Mann in his meeting on Lacy creek, which closed Sunday afternoon, after eight days of ration. During the meeting much interest was manifested and 21 added to the church. Bro. N. G. Robinson, who assisted, passed through here Monday en route for his home in Nicholas county.

A letter from Prof. Wm. H. Cord states that he will be in time to fill his appointments at the Christian church on Sunday morning evening. Subjects, "Living Witnesses" and "The Keys of the Kingdom."

Miss Laura D. Rawlings, of Covington, is in the city paying her respects to her many friends in this section. She will probably remain several weeks and is now the guest of Mrs. F. N. Day.

N. L. Ware and J. M. Swango, of Hazel Green, are in the city. They are both connected with the HAZEL GREEN HERALD, one of the best country papers in the state.—Lexington Argonaut.

There is a slight mistake somewhere. They are in the interest of the Hazel Green fair, but what they may do for THE HERALD will be appreciated.

Dave Linden, Howard Little and a few others of our citizens were fortunate enough to have cattle to sell last week, and we are glad of it. We wish all had something to sell. Howard and Dave sold 49 for $937.50.

N. L. Ware, secretary of the Hazel Green fair association, has been here the past few days in the interest of the fair. Mr. Ware says the fair is certainly a go, notwithstanding reports to the contrary.—Sentinel Democrat.

Under the present road law eight hours constitutes a day's work, and all work must be done between May 1 and September 1. Only a few days are left in which to prepare the roads for winter travel and it behooves road overseers to get a move on themselves.

H. F. Pieratt is selling seeds of goods and it's a sight upon the earth to see bargain hunters in his store like bees around a sugar barrel. See his big ad in this paper and when you want $1 worth of goods for a 50 cent silver dollar call on him. He takes them at par.

Dr. John Taulbee, who has been under the weather for a few days past, is able to be about again. He asks us to say that he desires to sell privately all his personal property and practice, as he contemplates locating in the south.

Medley and the Misses Oliver, of Mt. Sterling, are visiting their uncle, Dr. J. Mason Kash, and other relatives and friends in and around town. The trio are children of Jim Oliver, who used to live at Frenchburg, and "Med" is now a man.

From 10 bushels of wheat ground by Ed Meeks at the old mill at Hazel Green, I received 349 pounds of flour and 115 pounds of bran. I am well pleased with both quality and quantity of flour made me.

August 17, 1897. ST. CABLE.

Mrs. Henry Pieratt and Herald paid Campton a visit Sunday and Monday to see her father, Sewell Combs, who is suffering with his eyes and confined to a dark room. He has recently had an operation performed and is encouraged to hope that he will soon regain his eyesight.

A letter from Frank Tyler, at Mt. Vernon, Tenn., says that all are well and happy. His Gamble mare, however, went blind, and Minnie, his young black mare, has the fistula. Frank says he is coming to see the folks of Hazel Green this fall and attend the fair as sure as he lives.

One night of last week Dr. Nickell was called to Laurel to see Bruce Pelfry, who was suffering from temporary aberration of mind, superinduced by some spinal affection. Dr. Nickell administered some medicine and soon had him quiet, since which time he has been steadily improving.

Major Taulbee a few days since received a letter from Joe Taulbee, son of the lamented Pres, who is now at West Point, N. Y. Joe says soldier life makes him awfully home sick at times, but realizing that it will make a man of him if he can hold out faithful, he has determined to do so even to the end.

Uncle Pres Trimble, who is 77 years of age and who has not been to Mt. Sterling before in 13 years, is now there on a visit to his brother, J. G. Trimble, and other relatives and friends. He made the trip on horseback. He may extend his visit to Lexington and Frankfort, and his friends here hope him a good time.

Uncle Jesse Swango, of Swango, Ill., a brother of Uncle Harry Swango, and Newton Swango, of Charleston, Ill., a son of Uncle Harry, are visiting relatives and friends at this place, having arrived Tuesday evening last. Uncle Jesse has not been here for 12 years or more, and this is the first visit in about 9 years for Newt.

Cattle and sheep both sold well at the Mt. Sterling market last Monday. There was about 3,000 of the former on the market, and many nice feeders changed hands at 4 cents. Sheep were not so plentiful, but sold well. One bunch of wethers sold as high as $3 per head, several other lots at $2.75 for first pull, and $2.50 for mediums. Bucks brought 14 cents.

We desire to return our thanks to the Hazel Green association for a complimentary ticket to the Hazel Green fair, which is to be held Sept. 7, 8, 9 and 10. The Hazel Green fair has always been one of the best in the state, much interest being manifested in it by the citizens of Wolfe and surrounding counties, and it promises to be better than ever this year.—Beattyville Enterprise.

J. E. Stuart, Cane Ridge, I. S. Forman, W. J. McConaughay, Jacktown, Bourbon county; J. A. Umsted, Oakwood, Fleming county; G. Schafhausen, and a Mr. Million, Richmond, and R. M. Caldwell, Millersburg, Wm. Crain, Flemingsburg, Fleming county; James Graves, Peed, Mason county; Charley Barnett, Snow Hill, Fleming county, are among the visitors at Swango Spring this week.

Prof. R. M. Caldwell, Kentucky's Inimitable Impersonator, Elocutionist and Musician, assisted by Miss Sally Ford and Rev. Mr. Deggendorf, will on Saturday, August the 28th, give an entertainment at the academy building. The program will consist of musical selections, recitations and impersonations, and the proceeds go to the benefit of the school. Prof. Caldwell comes very highly recommended and a few of our citizens who have had the pleasure of hearing him speak in high praise of his talents and versatility.

A Strange Dream.

We chanced to be at Sunday school a few days since and were much delighted with the proceedings. The afternoon was calm and nature seemed to rejoice. We thought of the past and future. Thus the evening was passed and sable night came on. Then we closed our window and retired thinking of this beautiful world. We were soon in that state called the twin sister of death—sleep. We saw 300 Sunday school superintendents, 700 teachers and 12,000 pupils, all robed in white and each one with musical instrument in hand. The sweet strains of music filled the air with delightful melody. They arose from the earth with multiplied thousands with them. The piece played was "Come up higher." The light was dazzling to the eye. We thought in our dream of the beautiful verse which says:

"No night shall be in heaven, no withering gloom
Shall o'er that landscape come,
No tears to fall in sadness o'er those flowers
That breathe their fragrance through the bowers."

A deep shade then spread over the earth from which arose a vast multitude. They were robed in black; not a smile passed their lips; their eyes were as dull as lead. They too arose to the distance of thirty yards, but slowly and wavering. We soon discovered the cause. One held a quart bottle in hand, another a jug, another a Smith & Wesson, another a Colt's repeater, another a Winchester, another a great pack of old clothing, which appeared as if ready to be cast off. Each was so burdened. Suddenly they all fell to earth from whence they came. "Dust thou art, and unto dust thou shalt return," we said in our dream. Just at that period, as the darkness grew more deep, we saw Avanne, Fastidious and Diabolus make their hideous appearance, and with them a legion of lesser evil spirits. Then thunder tones rent the air and sulphuric odor followed, mixed with the clamor of a mighty throng, and I awoke.

Laurel, Ky. FRANK HATTON.

Columbus Gillaspie, who lives near Hazel Green, has a Colt's pistol that would make Col. W. F. Cody—Buffalo Bill's eyes water. It is a six shooter, highly decorated on the cylinder with pictures of U. S. troops and Indians fighting and otherwise ornamented by engraving. It is of the powder, ball and cap pattern, at least 9 inch barrel and shoots a ball about .48 calibre. Its total length is about 18 inches, it weighs 6 pounds and shoots to the spot 250 yards, though it will hold up nearly a mile. A Klondyke miner would give several nuggets for it, and any one contemplating a trip to that country could make a nice speculation on it.

Thrasher Combs, Democratic candidate for sheriff of Wolfe county, has a contract for taking a large amount of timber out of Lacy creek and its tributaries, and is spending a large amount of money among our people. He is building a tramway 2 1/2 miles long, at a cost of $500 and $600, and when he gets that finished will require a larger number of hands. This is prosperity for the hands employed, for the timber men and for Mr. Combs, we hope. But neither the Republican party, Mr. McKinley nor Mark Hanna caused it. "Not by a dam site."

Dave Lacy, who is working for Jeff M. Rose, of Lacy creek, has been having some very remarkable dreams lately. The latest one he tells is that he dreamed Wiley Perkins died and went to heaven. St. Peter met him at the portals, and said, "Come in." "Well," said Wiley, "if you don't mind, I'd like to go back and stay another week with Ellis Johnson." And, as Ellis is Mr. Perkins' close neighbor, the supposition is that they get along nicely together. How beautiful to dwell in unity, one with another.

A Remarkable Cure of Chronic Diarrhoea.

In 1862, when I served my country as a private in Company A, 167th Pennsylvania Volunteers, I contracted chronic diarrhoea. It has given me a great deal of trouble ever since. I have tried a dozen different medicines and several prominent doctors without any permanent relief. Not long ago a friend sent me a sample bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and after that I bought and took a 50 cent bottle, and now I can say that I am entirely cured. I cannot be thankful enough to you for this great Remedy, and recommend it to all suffering veterans. If in doubt write me. Yours gratefully, Henry Steinberger, Allentown, Pa. Sold by J. T. Day.

Night prowlers have been on the war-path during the past week searching gardens and tramping down the growing vegetables which our hardworking people are trying to raise to keep them through the winter. We would advise these same night hawks to "look a leedle out," for they may get a dose of "cold lead," as several of our citizens are laying for them.

Elder J. T. Pieratt returned home Monday night from Rogers Chapel, South fork of Red river, where he had just closed a two weeks' meeting. It is always gratifying to receive testimonials for Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and when the endorsement is from a physician it is especially so. "There is no more satisfactory or effective remedy than Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy," writes Dr. R. E. Roby, physician and pharmacist, of Olney, Mo.; and as he has used the Remedy in his own family and sold it in his drug store for six years he should certainly know. For sale by J. T. Day.
